Covid – A Reminder of What To Do

If your child is showing any of the following three symptoms: 1. High temperature 2. A new and continuous cough 3. Loss of taste and smell, they must be taken for a PCR test (not a lateral flow). If a member of your household tests positive for Covid 19 the remaining members of the household should go for a PCR test even if they are not showing symptoms. As long as your child isn't showing symptoms, they can return to school whilst you await the results.

Pupil Parliamentarians
